About This Video

By 2017, the app market will be valued at $77 Billion. Over 80% of all these developers are male. The Technovation Challenge aims to change that by empowering girls worldwide to develop apps for an international competition. From rural Moldova to urban Brazil to suburban Massachusetts, CODE_GIRL follows teams from around the world who dream of holding their own in the world's fastest-growing industry. The winning team gets $10K to complete development and release their app on the market, but every team discovers something valuable along the way.

am i bying it to look at some nice *SMART girl,, yes very sure but Basic be, yes this be rental with limits ,, still i highly recomned rent and watch it ,salutte well done u smart girls ;D this was very informative and to me interesting ,, keep on with nice work u make a huge diffrence in oer tiny messy world. I have a couple of complaints about the competition itself (why this emphasis on pitch and video? product is more important, no?), but the movie itself is alright. It doesn\u2019t create capital-D Drama out of competition itself, which is a good choice. But I think viewers are ready for a more in-depth look at the actual creation of apps and games, but it\u2019s not here. It is, for a good reason, more about people involved. In the best parts, it\u2019s heartwarming, in the worst parts it\u2019s awkward (hey, they are a bunch of teenagers, what can you expect).

Buy it, rent it, or don\u2019t, just don\u2019t read Steam\u2019s disquisitions for this movie, it\u2019s not worth it.

P.S. And now you can see \u201chelpfulness\u201d of this recommendation plummet.
